手机时代的聚会

参考范文

As the picture describes, four teenagers are having dinner around the table. It is worth noticing that all of them are staring attentively at their mobile phones rather than tasting the food or communicating with each other. Obviously, the above picture has shown an implication that mobile phones have changed people's ways of communication.

(作用角度) What the cartoonist has conveyed in the picture can be clearly and accurately summarized as the following: the phenomenon will make a huge difference to our lives. To begin with, excessive smartphone use is not conducive to paving the way for our further development or shaping our thoughts and actions. What is more, it goes without saying that excessive smartphone use has a negative and lasting impact on our relationship with others.

(原因角度) In fact, several reasons may lead to this event which is shown explicitly in the picture. However, in my opinion, the social phenomenon is caused by two major reasons. To begin with, a great number of people have not recognized the importance of using smartphones in a reasonable way, which sets a negative example for society. What is more, the rapid development of technology has greatly changed people's lives in many aspects, such as social interaction, education and so on.

According to the above analysis, it is imperative for us to take steps. Of all the measures, it is people's action that matters the most. Only in this way can we make our life more colorful and vigorous.

与其只提要求, 不如做个榜样

参考范文

As the first picture describes, a father who watches TV in a relaxing way is asking his son to study hard. Conversely, the second picture depicts that a father and his son are studying attentively together. Obviously, the above pictures have shown an implication that utmost significance must be attached to a good example.

What the pictures convey is that the quality will make a huge difference to our lives. To begin with, a good example is conducive to paving the way for our further development or shaping our thoughts and actions. What is more, a good example could promote social development, thereby making it more likely to be a prosperous and strong country.

In summary, it is high time that we took concrete and efficient actions. The mass media, such as television and the Internet, should make every effort to advocate the quality. Looking further ahead, we can say with full confidence that it is reasonable for us to expect a better society.

“有书”与“读书”

参考范文

What comes into view is that in the first picture, a student sitting in front of the bookshelf says “I have so many books”, without reading a word. Opposed to the former, the second picture depicts that another student reading attentively reminds himself of his goal of reading 20 books this year. Clearly, the above photos have shown an implied meaning that it is important to take action.

What the pictures convey is that the quality will make a huge difference to our lives. To begin with, prompt action is conducive to paving the way for our further development or shaping our thoughts and actions. What is more, taking action could promote social development, thereby making it more likely to be a prosperous and strong country.

Considering all the points discussed above, it is advisable that we highly value the quality. Of all the measures, it is people's action that matters the most. Only in this way can we make our life more colorful and vigorous.

选课进行时

参考范文

As the picture describes, a student is selecting courses through the online course selection system. It is worth noticing that the student is faced with two choices: the difficult courses that contain new knowledge and focus on creativity, and those that are easy to pass with high marks and fewer academic burdens. Obviously, the above picture has shown an implication that utmost significance must be attached to making choices.

(作用角度) What the picture conveys is that the phenomenon will make a huge difference to our lives. To begin with, making a right decision in a dilemma is conducive to paving the way for our further development or shaping our thoughts and actions. What is more, making a wise choice in a dilemma could promote social development, thereby making it more likely to be a prosperous and strong country.

(原因角度) In fact, several reasons may lead to this event which is shown explicitly in the picture. However, in my opinion, the social phenomenon is caused by two major reasons. On the top of the list is that a great number of people have not recognized the importance of making choices, which sets a negative example for society. It is also universally accepted that the development of a country's economy has greatly affected people's behavior or minds based on a variety of factors.

According to the above analysis, it is imperative for us to take steps. Of all the measures, it is people's action that matters the most. Only in this way can we make our life more colorful and vigorous.

What comes into view is that in the picture, two young men are climbing a mountain. If we take a closer look, it can be found that one man who sits on the ground and looks slightly depressed says “I’m too tired to go further”, while the other one who wears a bag on the back and a big smile on the face replies, “Come on! Take a break and keep climbing.” Obviously, the above picture has shown an implication that utmost significance must be attached to persistence.

What the picture conveys is that the quality will make a huge difference to our lives. To begin with, persistence is conducive to paving the way for our further development or shaping our thoughts and actions. What is more, persistence could promote social development, thereby making it more likely to be a prosperous and strong country.

Considering all the points discussed above, it is advisable that we highly value the quality. Of all the measures, it is people’s action that matters the most. Only in this way can we make our life more colorful and vigorous.

What comes into view is that in the first picture, a girl who concentrates on her homework says, "Only by finishing it as soon as possible could I be reassured." In contrast, as can be seen from the second picture, a boy who leans on a sofa lazily says, "I will not do my homework until the deadline." Obviously, the above pictures have shown an implication that it is necessary to develop good habits.

What the pictures convey is that the quality will make a huge difference to our lives. To begin with, developing good habits could promote one's own personal development, thereby making it more likely to be a mature and responsible person. What is more, it goes without saying that developing good habits has a positive and lasting impact on our relationship with others.

According to the above analysis, it is imperative for us to take steps. Of all the measures, it is people's action that matters the most. Only in this way can we make our life more colorful and vigorous.

As the picture describes, a father and his son who wears a costume are having a conversation. It is worth noticing that the kid says unhappily, “Dad, my classmates consider learning Chinese opera boring”, while his father replies with a reassuring smile, “It is good enough as long as you like it.” Obviously, the above picture has shown an implication that it is important to be confident.

What the picture conveys is that the quality will make a huge difference to our lives. To begin with, being confident is conducive to paving the way for our further development or shaping our thoughts and actions. What is more, confidence could promote social development, thereby making it more likely to be a prosperous and strong country.

What comes into view is that in the picture, two girls are looking at the poster for a lecture. If we take a closer look, it can be found that one student says, "It has nothing to do with our major. It is useless for us!" while the other replies, "There are always some benefits." Obviously, the above picture has shown an implication that great emphasis should be placed on extensive learning.

What the cartoonist has conveyed in the picture can be clearly and accurately summarized as the following: the phenomenon will make a huge difference to our lives. The supporting point is that extensive learning is conducive to paving the way for our further development or shaping our thoughts and actions. Besides, it is not rare to find that extensive learning could promote one's own personal development, thereby making it more likely to be a mature and responsible person.

In summary, it is high time that we took concrete and efficient actions. The mass media, such as television and the Internet, should make every effort to advocate the phenomenon. Only in this way can we make our life more colorful and vigorous.

What comes into view is that in the picture, some young people are having a dragon boat race which attracts a lot of spectators. If we take a closer look, it can be found that an elderly woman said to her spouse happily, "It is wonderful that there are more and more people participating in the dragon boat race held in our village!" Obviously, the above picture has shown an implication that it is important to inherit and develop traditional culture.

In fact, several reasons may lead to this event which is shown explicitly in the picture. However, in my opinion, the social phenomenon is caused by two major reasons. In the first place, a great number of people have recognized the importance of inheriting and carrying forward traditional Chinese culture, which sets a positive example for society. In the second place, the development of a country's economy has greatly affected people's behavior or minds based on a variety of factors.

According to the above analysis, it is imperative for us to take steps. Of all the measures, it is people's action that matters the most. Only in this way can we make our life more colorful and vigorous.

What comes into view is that in the picture on the left, a young man is standing at the fitness area in a newly-built park near his home. Observing people engaging in various exercises, he remarks, "The new park right on my doorstep is really great." As can be seen from the chart on the right, the number of parks in a certain city has gone through some changes, jumping from 406 in 2020 to 670 in 2022. Obviously, the above picture and chart show an implication that the government's increased commitment has satisfied the public's demand for more green leisure spaces.

In fact, several factors may contribute to the phenomenon shown in the picture and the chart. However, in my opinion, the social phenomenon is caused by two major reasons. To begin with, there is a growing consciousness among citizens about the benefits of outdoor activities and green spaces for mental and physical health, which has led to an increased demand for accessible parks and recreational areas. What is more, the government's recognition of the importance of public fitness facilities in urban areas also plays a key role. The government has introduced urban planning programs focused on creating more green recreational areas and invested in infrastructure development.

According to the above analysis, it is obvious that the phenomenon reflected in the picture and the chart will continue for some time in the future. It is imperative for us to keep enhancing the quality of life for city dwellers. Only in this way can we make our society change for the better.
